Law Enforcement

SCOPE: This guide is an introduction to research aids in law enforcement and related topics. The publications listed are located in GAO's libraries. Items in the Law Library, room 7056, are indicated by the word LAW preceding the call number; all other items listed are in the Audit Reference Services Library, room 6536. Both libraries are open weekdays from 8:00 to 4:45. The library staff is available to help you. For extensive research assistance, contact the librarian assigned to work with your division. If you are in a regional office which has a technical information specialist (TIS), consult him or her; if your office does not have a TIS, contact the GAO library staff directly.

ABSTRACTING AND INDEXING SERVICES

The following publications index journal articles and sometimes other publications by subject. Unlike bibliographies, which are usually one-time publications, indexing and abstracting services are continued and kept up to date by regular issues. The date given for each publication listed is the date of GAO's oldest issue.

ADDITIONAL SOURCES OF INFORMATION

A. National Criminal Justice Reference Service (NCJRS)

Operated under contract to the U.S. Department of Justice, NCJRS is a clearinghouse for criminal justice information. NCJRS maintains a data base containing citations and abstracts of criminal justice publications. This data base is currently available to GAO staff in two ways. NCJRS reference specialists will search the data base upon request, and can usually provide results in two weeks. If faster service is essential, the GAO librarian or technical information specialist assigned to work with your division or regional office can search the NCJRS data base through a commercial computer system. For further information on requesting computer searches, see paragraph C, below.

In addition to maintaining a data base, NCJRS provides a free Selective Notification of Information Service (SNI), whereby subscribers periodically receive a pamphlet describing recent publications on various criminal justice topics. NCJRS also has a reading room which is open to the public.
