

Accountability Is Our Middle Name

Often called the “congressional watchdog,” GAO is an independent, nonpartisan, legislative branch agency that advises Congress about ways to make government more efficient, effective, equitable, and responsive.

Returning more than $100 in taxpayer savings for every dollar of our budget, we support oversight of federal spending by:

- auditing federal programs
- investigating allegations of illegal or improper activities
- reporting on agency program and policy effectiveness
- analyzing policy and outlining options for Congress
- issuing legal decisions and opinions in areas related to bid protests of federal contracts, reports on agency rules, and use of public money

Our People Are Our Strength

...and we value them accordingly. We strive for:

A workplace that emphasizes

- diversity
- inclusion
- respect
- fairness

Work/life balance, offering

- flexible work schedules
- continuous learning
- a pay system that rewards performance

GAO has ranked in the top 5 Best Places to Work in the federal government every year since 2005, and our support of diversity has been top-ranked among mid-sized federal agencies since 2011.

When We Talk, Others Listen

GAO is integral to government decision making.

We make hundreds of recommendations each year, testify frequently at congressional hearings, and are cited regularly in the national press.

On average, roughly 80% of our recommendations are implemented over a four-year period, improving government services and saving taxpayers billions of dollars annually.

What We Do

GAO’s Office of the General Counsel employs approximately 180 attorneys, all in Washington, D.C.

The scope and depth of our legal expertise is unparalleled in the federal government. Our attorneys provide:

- Legal advice and services to GAO’s analysts assessing virtually every federal activity
- Assistance in drafting legislation and preparing congressional testimonies and briefings
- Resolution to disputes over the award of multi-million dollar federal contracts
- Legal decisions and opinions to Congress and agencies on the expenditure of public funds
- In-house counsel services to help GAO manage its 3,000-person organization and litigate before the Personnel Appeals Board

In addition to providing stimulating, challenging, and rewarding legal opportunities, OGC prides itself on its collegial working environment.
