B-183734
Postal Service clan against General Services Administration for penalty mail usage during Fiscal Year 1972.

DIGEST:

1. General Services Administration (GSA) retains indebted to Postal Service for additional $$ 2,037,4,4_{4}$, representing fiscal year 1972 package mailings because reduced rate package nailing reimbursement agreement which had been made prior to fiscal year 1972 appears inconsistent with equivalent value concent under Postal Reorganizetron Act and record fails to clearly indicate that prior year's agreement was in fact renewed for fiscal year 1972.
2. Postal Service method of computing claim against CSA for fiscal year 1072 package mailings by applying percentages of different package sizes obtained from GSA general package mailing sam ines to all 1072 package mailings is acceptable as most accurate and reasomide me thou avainale, especially because CSA provided no more accurate method of computation.

This decision responds to the request of Richard F. Gould, Assistant Postmaster General, United States Postal Service, for assistance in the collection of $\{2,037,46$, which the postal Service clans the General Services Administration (GSA) ones for penalty mall usage during Fiscal Year (Fr) 1972. The claim was submitted to us pursuant to 39 U.S.C. $32601(\mathrm{a})(1970$ ed.), which provides in part that the Postal Service say refer any matter uncollectabie through administrative action to the General Accounting Office for collection.

This dispute arises under 39 U.S.C. 5 3206(a) (1970 ed.), which requires Government agencies to transfer to the Postal Service out of any appropriations or funds available to then "the equivalent amount of postage due, as determined by the Postal Service, for matter sent in the mails by or to them as penalty mail ." Penalty mail is defined at 39 U.S.C. § 3201 (1970 ed.) as official mail, other than franked mail, which is authorized by law to be transited in the wail without prepayment of postage. The determination under 39 U.S.C. $$ 3205(a)$ of the "equivalent amount of postage due" is based on periodic samplings and estimates of agency mailings, a procedure which vas followed by the former

Post Office Department under former section 39 U.S.C. § 4156(a)(1964 ed.), now recodified without substantive change as 39 U.S.C. § 3206 (a). See 36 Comp. Gen. 352 (1956). Prior to the beginning of each fiscal year, Government organizations authorized to use penalty thail are required to subnit to the Postal Service an estimate of thetr expected mail volume for the next fiscal year. Based on the estimates, the Governnent organizations and the Postal Service arree upon air amount to be paid for the use of penalty mail. If chances in an agency's enticipated mail volume occur during the fiscal year the negotlated amount is adjusted.

In 1968, the Post Office Department established three size categories ("small," "large," and "odd") for package mallines under the penalty mail privilege, chargine different rates on pacitaces according to their size. The Post Office Departwent asked Vederal agencies to supply package count estinates for the conine fiscal year by size category in advance of ratimes. Decause GSA was unable to obtain specific packafe count information by size category it proposed, and the Fost Office Dopartment accepted, a unit cost of $$ 1.20$ per package (the then current sall package regular 4 th class rate) for their maflings. Similar agreenents were made betveen the Fost Gifice Lepartment and GSj fur Fiscal Year 1970 and 1971. For each reimbursenenc agreenent, GSA prow vided the rost Office Departnent with projected cost estimates for GSA general package mailiags and Federal Supply Service (FSS) package mallinge for the coung fiscal year, based on eamples from the current fiscal year, and final reimbursenents were subject to adjustments at the enj of the respective fiscal years based on samplings taken during those fiscal years.

Under the provisions of the Postal Reorganization Act, approved August 12, 1970, Pub. L. No. 91-375, 84 Stat. 719, the organization previously know as the Post office Department becawe the Postal Service. The Postal Service comenced operations on July 1, 1971. See note precedinf 39 U.S.C. 8101 (1970 ed). On June 17, 1971, GSA wrote to the Postal Service to request a renewal of the packace mailing reimbursement agrsenent for Fiscal Year 1972. On July 6, 1971, the Postal Service sent a notice to the heads of all Government agencies, stating that all agencies should make arrangemerts to reimburse the Yostal Service for its services at new rates, involving two adjustments: one for the period between liay 16 and June 30, 1971, and the other for Fiscal Year 1972. The Postal Service restated its policy from previous years of establishing rates based on the type of mail, the size of the piece mailed, and the type of service provided, and noted that "special rates must be ... applied for."

On July 27, 1971, the Postal Eervice replied to GSA's June 17, 1971, request for ronewal of the reduced rate reimburesment agrement, Thie Postal Service letter accept(ed) your (GSA) cstimated cost of $$ 2,000,000$ as retmbursenent to the Yostal service for hadilng the general railinge during liecnl Year 1972, subject to adjustwent for actual postage costs based on the reaulta of your Septemear 1971, mail sampina." rostal Sorvice also aceopted cos's "esthated cost for handing GSA eupply distribution facility mailing  *." Tids letter fron the postal Sarvice did not mantion the CSA requeet for renetal of the small pachage zate reisburement agreatent. Apparently sometime betwecu Juy 27 and August 9, 1571, the postal revenue officer whth whon GSA had been dealine made "verbal assurences" to somane at GBA that the mall pechore reinursencat agrement would contine threen Fiscal Year jo72. The jostal sorvico states in dids regare thes the portal officer in question had ratired on sey 31, 1571, tand duraze the perlod in quostion he vas serving caly as a temoray conouleant. It is not clear whether CR had actual of constrastive knoviedge of this.

By letcor of Amant 9, 1971, GSA wote to the Postal Service agroenaut bidon wa reportaly reached vith the postal officer. The Postal Service reoponce vith a Icter dated Septemer 13, 107. The letter stated in part as follows:
"In 1003 the paciage category was split into three bize categorles and rates vere established accordingly. In your letter of soptember 18,1963, copy attacled, your accacy adviest us that you had incufficiont information to determine your coats as a rosult of our estabilshing the three packace carecories; tharefore, you proposed a unit rate for parkages. Your proposal vas accepted at the time and had contimued in offect ever since. $x t$ is feilt that there has now beon sufficiont tive for jour aseacy to develor ajguate data on the throe size categories of recianes usec in your maina operations meder the peraity rail ajcten.
Also, ve belicve that the postal Meorganization Act requires us to obtain more realistic and prudeat accounting and reporting data. lie would appreciate it if your office would provide us with packaze data broken down by the three catecories for the Eederal Supply Service and your general milings after your second ratl sanpling in $1972 . "$ (Emphasie supplied.)

Referring to this letter, GSA states:
"The response of the Postal Servfce, dated September 13, 1971, did not specifically approve or disapprove our understanding of the reimbursenent agreement but clearly indicated that ESA's second nail eampling in 1972 was the tine at wich we must begin to break our packare data into the three slze categories. Based upon our cetablishec practice of using meil samilines for the current fiscal year to project the estimated costs for the coming fiscal year, we interpreted the Postal Service's letter as meaniog that besinining with Fiscel Year 1973 we would be required to base our redubursment agrecment on the three size package categories."

On Deconber 17, 1971, ©SA notified the Fostal. Service of the amount whicli it claimed it coed for liscal Year $197 \%$ general matlings, based on wall savplinas in March and Septenber of 197. By letter of Janary 7, 197í, the Foscal Service, referring specifically to the swall packasa rate reinbursement agrement, ibfomed GSA that the three size cetcgories concept wes to be finplencnted initially in Eiscal lear 19\%, not in Fiscal Year 1973. In adeition, the Postal Service guzgesced that GSA was computing its fiscal year packase mailines incorrectly:
"We note that you use Narch and September cests of a given calendar year to profect the volune and bucget arount for the fiscal year endits on the subseguent June 30tin. It is iurtier noted that the findelal estinate is not updated for actual by the subsequent sampling in the following Aareh. Accordindly, your sample base is six months behind. We believe tiat you should use the ifarch and September samples falling within a ifiven Fiscal Year as the sample base for determining the actual volume."

In its Karch 10 , 197j, letter to our Offtee, GSA contenis that it has pald the Postal Service all that it owes for package nallinz services provided in Fiscal Year 1972, stating:
"* * *It la the position of the General Services Administration that the Postal Service was fully reinbursed for all GSA mailings during fisenl Year 1972 in accordance with an arreenent watch was approved at the beginning of the fiscal year by the Postal Service. Our apreement was a renewal of the same type of agreement we had been using in the years fmediately preceding Fiscal Year 1972 and the postal revenue officer that GSA had been dealing, with eave us assurances that our propesed agreement was acceptable. After the Postal Reorganization Act became effective on July 1, 1971, our revjey of the Postal Service's July 6, 1971, letter of instructions to agenctes gave us no reason to believe that our pereement was not acceptable. When the Postal Service notiffed us, more than halfvay through the fiscal year, that terms other than those contained in our arreement were to be applicable, we complied to the maximum cxtent possible by using the three size caregories for packages in cur Morch 1972, samplind for general mailines. From this it may be cloerly scen that in Fiscel Year 1972, GSA's reimburaenent to the Postal Service was based squarely on our reimbursoment agreezient as orifinally proposed and accepted."

In addition, GSA argues that even if fe is liable to the Postal sented was incorrectly compatec:
"It was not until the Pestal Service's Ietter of January 7, 1972, that it was unabiguously stated that our reimbursements for Fiscal Year 1972 would be required to reflect the thres packere size categories. Additionally, the Postal Service requested that package mailine costs for Fiscal Year 197? be computed solely on the basis of samplings taken during that ficeal year. wy this time roore than halfway into the fiscal year, it was virtually impossible for us to compute our packege mailing costs for the entire fiscal year on the basis of the three size categories. We were, however, able to comply with the three size category sampina requirements vith respect to our qeneral mailings in a sampling talien in March 1972, and this information was furnished to the Postal Service althourh we did not use it to compute our reimbursement. Although it was impractical to sample the much larger Fedcral Supply Service package mailings using the three size categories, we vere able to do our nomal sampling of these mailings in April 1972, and be able to comply with the request of the Postal Service that the reinbursment computations be bazed on gapilngs taken during titat fifscal year.
"The Postal Service contencs thet it has computed the amount of the clain it is now assertine by applyins the rates applicable to the three pobage sizes to the fitures contained in the eamplines supplied by GSA for rlscal Cear is72. is ve inve pointec out, only the swnling for tac quaral manimes was conducted usine the three size cateories. The paciage malings of the Federal Suply Service tere not sampled ustog the timee size cateanties and the refriburoment for all madlingo was computed by using the long cstablished and agreed won swall package rate and the figures obtatied in our Fiscal Year 1972 amplings.
"ane postal Semvice, fin arrivind at the sun they now contend is we them, arthed the perconasee of dafferent packaze sizes when our sampline showed to exist in the general miliags to the gross numer of packeses maled by our mederal Supply Sarvice. This obvionsly hos no more validity than piching percentages at randen. There is nothing to subesed that be percontages of different sized packacea roniled by the Poueral Supply Service vere exactly the same as those in the general malines and it is obvious that the Poatal Service used these floures solely because they were the ouly was they hed. if st"

The Postal Service, on the other hond, arcues both that it was underpaid by GSA for liscal Yas 1972 package nailings and that the $$ 2,037,464$ which they ciaim is owed is as accurate and reasonable a figure as can be computad. The Postal Service makes tho areuraents In support of ita contention that GSA remains intebted to the fostal Service for Yiscal Year 1972 ourvices. Basically the Postal Service contends that the enactuent of the Postel Beorganization het precluded the acceptance of a sun less then the actul anount due for mailing services remuered in Fiscal Year 1972. The Postal Servize argues that the enactment of tho Postal Reorganimation Act funcomentally altered the relationships between the Postal Service and Goverment agencles wiich were eligible to receive penalty mail service:
"Then a government agency failed to pay its full postage bills prior to enectment of the Postal Reorganization act, the true cost of operating that agency was understated, and the Post office Dapartmon's operaking coste and apearent inctficiency vould ie overstated. Honcver, the overall cost to the Governuent and thus to the real party in interest, the feceral texpayer, vould bo the same. Is a restide there aparently vas not any greet institutional incentive within either the executive or legfalative arns of the Governmat to enforce the reimburement provisions of the penalty wail javs aceoritne to their tertis. Py the ewactrant of the Pootal Reorganisation hat, however, the fnotitutions relationships within tie Covemenent vere chanded fundanentally, even though the peratey najl lawe retuained basicaliy tho same. Jhe act restructured the postal system so as ultastaly to charge wost costs of postal operations to uears of postai struices, rather than to the Feceral taxpayer, it a executtive semon wete terwitted to reluge to pay fot the costa of ail the eevvices involved fin hadiar its mail, without a pesjupo auhhorization of law to do 60, then the statutory jlan coboticu for tide Postal Reorgenization Act voule be wholly frustrated, aince the costs woule mave to be charged eji.er to tise postal. cuatomer or to postel appropriations, thereby unjustly overcinaring tie custower, contrary to 39 U.S.C. 403(c), $3622(b)(3)$, and masheacturs everyone, conceas and the puble, as to the actual ecoroaic erffeiency of the management of the postal system. Noreover, such unilateral action by an exacutive agency would also frustrate the normal lesisiative oversioht conducted by tie appropriate approntiations coraittees with respect to that agency, since gore of the expence of that agency's operations would le concealed in the postal budget, beyond the unual lecislative reviev. Ne cannot agree that these can be any legal basis for such unilateral activity by an executive seency, except a positive and explicft authorization of las enacted by a subsequent. Congress."
because of the basic changes in its structure, the Postal Service argues, "it would be impossible for us to continue the set of informal agreements that [had] governed our business affairs * * *" before the effective date of the Postal Reorganizetion Act.

The Postal Service also orgues that even if the postal revenue officer with won eSA had dealt had in fact siven GSA 'verbal assurances ${ }^{\text {" }}$ of the continuine overability of the stall package rate reimbursement agreement throngh fiscal your 1972, tha agreement would be unenforceable. The Postal Service cites fecieral Crop Insuramee Corp. v. Larrill et a1. 332 V .5 .380 (1047), a leabins case deajing with the Government's contractual liablifty for the unauthorized acts of its agents, wherein the Suprene Court stated:
si* * anyone enterfor finto an arangewent wish the Government tabes the risl: of having accurately ascertained that he who vurports to set for the Goverameat stays withia the bounds of his authority. The scope of this outhority moy be explicitly defined by Coneress or be leasted by uelequed lesisiotion, properiy exercised throuph the rule-raktan porer. Ah this is so even thourh, as here, tes arent hirself way heve been waaware of the limitotions upon his aithordty. 中 * i" 332 U.S. at 364.

We belleve it is clear, as the lostal Service sugeests, tiot 39 U.S.C. & $3206(a)$, Buma, which roguires Govermunt agencies to tramsfer to the Postal Service the equivalent amount of postage due, as detemined by the Rostal. Service' for penalty mail, contemplates that amounce so trameferacd wlll reasonably approsinate the actual value of penalty hail usod. This current requirement does not seem to differ in substance from that epplicable unier the predecessor Post Office Bopartment, althoush considerations then existin? justified greater flemibility in aecertaining the degree of equivalency required. Ce., 30 Comp. Gen. 352, suras, at 355. In any event, ve also arres with the Postal Service that the basic thrust and purposes of the Postal iloorganization: Act in effect strensthen the equivilency requirement. Sac, e. E., 39 U.S.C. $$ $ 101(\mathrm{~d}), 403(\mathrm{c}), 3622(\mathrm{~b})(3)(1970)$; 1. K. Rep. No. $91-$ 1104, 16-17 (1.979). We believe it is equally clear that the arrangenent betwoen GSA and the former Yost Office Departocnt, whereby the "mall pacione rate" was applied to all GSA packoge maflings, did not even purport to reflect the actual value of penalty mall used.

Wa do not understand GSA to diepute the foregoing observations. Pather, GSA's basic argumotit is that f.t had an ogreeneit with the Postal Service to provide reimbursment exelusfvely at the small pecizage rate for Afscal yanr 1972, so tiat the latter representen in effect the equivaleat anount " an deternaned by the Postal Sorvoe.' lowever, GSA's contation fust, in our vien, be rejected for two reamenn. Pirst, for tie reascis stated above, it apoers to us thet the Josta? Servico nould lack antholaconsistent on its fece with the equvalency requiremenc. Second, the recore toEona bo sinply fails to suport a cloar "reetfing of the winds" requisise to the arement allesed by GEA. Doreover, CBA's reltance on a postal offtce's vertal anewance of the contantan operation of the agrecrat is logally ninpuadd: vist of the rule in the Leryill caco: gura.

With ronoct to the amount due, the pored Sarvice aileges that csh io indebted to $1 t$ for 9,037 , 464, a fisure which it calculnted by epaybig ine fercentages of diforent paciare used in its computations, arguing that the postal service's use of the fercertages of the three different rize pachares from the ware 1972 anoral maildage sampling in fisuring the amount due for package mallines for the entire fiscal yoar was frproper. The GSA statea that this precedure "\% * * has no more valldyty than pichins percentages at randon. hinere is nothing to suggest that the percontages of different sized pachages mailed by the Fedoral Surply Service were exactly the sanc as those in the general malings $* * * *$

While the basic approach of estimating the equivalent value of penalty mail remins appronriate under tie Postal keorganization Act, we believe, as stated previously, that the equivalency concept requires reirabursement in an amount reasonably calculated to approsimate the actual value of penalty mail used. Any lesser standar! would effectively result in the provision of an unauthorized subsidy by the Postal Service. Converscly, an unreanonably tidg relmburbement asount would afford an unauthorized subshy to the Postal Service. In the Instant case, while the Postal Service's method of computine the aditional mount due from CSA is far from precise, it does have a ratiomel besis. horeover, due do the mbunderatamine between the parcies, it constitutes wo enly wethod available to it, as indtcated by the record bofore 43. GSA has falled to offer a more realietie comutation, nad certafirly such fallure camot exeuse its liaility. Aecondingly, in the aboace of any other basis, ve mast accept the postal Service calculation of tio cladi at $$ 2,037,464$,
