The Honorable Tom Harkin
Chairman, Subcommittee on Labor,
Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies
Committee on Appropriations
United States Senate

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This fact sheet responds to your request that we identify and present information on federal financial assistance programs (grants and direct payments) for which state and local governments are eligible applicants. It presents information on 606 federal programs, with estimated obligations of $155.3 billion, available to such governments in fiscal year 1990. The fact sheet includes the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) number identifying the federal funding agency, program name, types of financial assistance, eligibility, budget function, and estimated funds obligated.

The CFDA was the source for the state and local government financial assistance programs identified. The CFDA is a governmentwide compendium of federal programs, projects, services, and activities that provide assistance or benefits to the American public. The update to the 1990 CFDA, issued in December 1990, contains 1,183 assistance programs administered by 52 federal agencies. Benefits and services are provided through seven financial and eight nonfinancial types of assistance. We included in our list of financial assistance programs four of the seven financial types—formula grants, project (discretionary) grants, direct payments for specified use, and direct payments with unrestricted use. We excluded direct loans, guaranteed/insured loans, and insurance because these are not commonly considered grants-in-aid.

We provide information on financial obligations rather than outlays for each program. Obligations represent the funds committed by the federal funding agency, while outlays represent the funds expended.

In appendix I, we rank the programs by fiscal year 1990 estimated funding, from highest to lowest. Obligations to state and local governments for fiscal year 1990 totaled $155.3 billion for the 606 programs. Twenty-four programs, each with obligations over $1 billion, had combined obligations of $121.5 billion and accounted for 78 percent of fiscal year 1990 total obligations. In contrast, 70 programs, each with obligations under $1.5 million, had combined obligations of $50.4 million and accounted for .03 percent of total obligations. Appendix I also shows for each program, the type of financial assistance, eligibility, and budget function.

We prepared four additional appendixes to facilitate your analysis:

- Appendix II shows eligibility for programs and their funding by type of government.
- Appendix III shows the number of programs and amounts obligated by type of financial assistance.
- Appendix IV shows the number of programs and amounts obligated by each federal agency providing financial assistance.
- Appendix V shows the number of programs and amounts obligated by budget function.

Copies of this fact sheet are being sent to interested parties and made available to others on request. If you have any questions about this fact sheet, please call me on (202) 275-1655. Other major contributors are listed in appendix VI.

Sincerely yours,

Linda G. Morra
Director, Human Services Policy and Management Issues

^aFormula programs—Allocations of money to states or their subdivisions in accordance with a distribution formula prescribed by law or administrative regulation, for activities of a continuing nature not confined to a specific project.

Project programs—The funding, for fixed or known periods, of specific projects or the delivery of specific services or products without liability for damages for failure to perform. Includes fellowships, scholarships, research grants, training grants, traineeships, experimental and demonstration grants, evaluation grants, planning grants, technical assistance grants, survey grants, construction grants, and unsolicited contractual agreements.

Direct payments for specified use—Financial assistance from the federal government provided directly to individuals, private firms, and other private institutions to encourage or subsidize a particular activity by conditioning the receipt of the assistance on a particular performance by the recipient. Examples include Food Stamps, Indian Housing, and Impact Aid—Maintenance and Operations.

Direct payments with unrestricted use—Financial assistance from the federal government provided directly to beneficiaries who satisfy federal eligibility requirements with no restrictions being imposed on the recipient as to how the money is spent. Included are payments to subsidize states for assistance provided to refugees for resettlement throughout the country and payments to provide emergency feed assistance to livestock owners.
